

DRIVING FORCE TECHNOLOGIES—WARRANTY AND SATISFACTION GUARANTY

Driving Force Technologies stands behind the quality of its products and guaranties your satisfaction. Our fuel additive products, when used as directed and in applications for which our additive is recommended, meets or exceeds the requirements for additives used in gasoline and diesel motor fuels as specified in the Worldwide Fuel Charter published by the major auto and engine manufacturers.

SATISFACTION GUARANTY: If you try our fuel additive products, follow our directions for product application and use, and are not completely satisfied, then you may return the product within 180 days of purchase, for an exchange or refund of the product price and applicable tax for up to $200 in the aggregate. This satisfaction guaranty does not apply to purchases for resale stock or inventory.

WARRANTY: Driving Force Technologies warrants, for a period of two years from the date of manufacture, that Driving Force Technologies' fuel additive, when used as directed under normal operating conditions and in applications for which it is recommended, will perform as claimed on the product label. Driving Force Technologies further warrants that its fuel additive, when used as directed, will not void engine warranties, or cause engine or fuel system damage, and will not alter the manufacturer's recommended fuel specifications for gasoline and diesel motor fuels. However, this warranty shall be void if an engine or fuel system has been damaged by accident, abuse or misuse, has been modified by the operator from the original manufacturer's specifications, or if the operator has used additional chemicals, additives or other liquids in the engine or fuel system at the same time as Driving Force Technologies' fuel additive. Driving Force Technologies' obligations under this warranty shall be limited to the repair or replacement of the affected engine, fuel system. Driving Force Technologies shall not be liable for any incidental, consequential, punitive or other indirect damages as Buyer's sole remedy is limited above to repair or replacement of the affected engine or fuel system. Any action for breach of this warranty or other action under those terms must be commenced within one year after such cause of action arises.
